

DEPRESSION

BY CHILDBOOK.AI

Joe stood at the community center with his clipboard. 'Today we teach cliff safety,' he announced. Sabrina arrived with colorful safety posters. 'These will help everyone learn,' she said smiling. Joney brought orange cones and safety ropes. Little Jeffrey watched excitedly. 'Can I help too?' he asked. Joe nodded warmly. 'Everyone helps keep our town safe.' They walked together toward the hiking trail. The cliff overlook needed new warning signs. 'Stay back from edges,' Joe explained to Jeffrey.

CHILD KISIY

At the cliff viewpoint, Joney placed bright cones along the safe path. 'This shows where to walk,' he explained. Sabrina hammered signs into the ground. Jeffrey handed her nails carefully. 'Good job, buddy,' she said. Joe measured distances with his tape. 'The safe zone is ten feet from the edge,' he called out. They painted a yellow line on the ground. Families could now see the boundary clearly. 'This will protect everyone,' Joe said proudly.

Visitors arrived for the safety demonstration. Joe gathered everyone in a circle. 'We have three important rules,' he began. Sabrina held up her first poster. 'Rule one: Always stay behind the yellow line.' Joney demonstrated the buddy system. 'Rule two: Never hike alone,' he said. Jeffrey showed his whistle proudly. 'Rule three: Carry a safety whistle,' the little boy announced. Families practiced the rules together. Everyone clapped when they finished. 'You're all cliff safety experts now!' Joe cheered.

The mayor visited to see their work. 'Wonderful job, safety team!' she praised. Joe felt proud of what they accomplished. Sabrina took photos of the new safety zone. Joney checked that all signs were secure. Jeffrey waved at families using the safe path. 'We helped lots of people today,' he said happily. Joe knelt down beside him. 'Yes, we kept everyone safe together.' The team shared high-fives. Their cliff was now the safest in town. Community helping felt amazing.

Spark Your Child's Imagination

and create a personalized book in which you are the main character

BECOME A BOOK
HERO

CHILDBOOK.AI