

THE FROG AND THE MOUSE : MORAL STORY FOR KIDS

Once upon a time, in a lush green forest, there lived a curious little mouse named Mia. Mia loved exploring and discovering new things. One sunny morning, as she was scurrying through the tall grass, she stumbled upon a small pond. Intrigued, she tiptoed closer to take a peek.

To her surprise, sitting on a lily pad in the middle of the pond was a wise old frog named Fredrick. Fredrick had seen many creatures come and go, and he was known for his wisdom. When he noticed Mia, he smiled warmly and invited her to join him on the lily pad.

As Mia hopped onto the lily pad, she and Fredrick began chatting. They talked about their adventures, dreams, and the importance of friendship. Fredrick shared stories of the forest and the valuable lessons he had learned over the years. Mia listened intently, her eyes wide with wonder.

Meanwhile, a mischievous squirrel named Sammy had been watching the two newfound friends from a distance. Sammy was jealous of the bond forming between Mia and Fredrick. Determined to cause trouble, he hatched a plan to separate them.

One day, while Fredrick was taking a nap, Sammy sneaked into his cozy little home and stole his glasses. Without his glasses, Fredrick couldn't see clearly, and everything appeared blurry. He felt lost and helpless without them.

When Mia discovered what Sammy had done, she was furious. She knew she had to help her friend. With determination in her heart, she embarked on a mission to find Sammy and retrieve Fredrick's glasses. She searched high and low, following Sammy's mischievous trail.

After a long and challenging journey, Mia finally found Sammy hiding in a hollow tree. With a clever plan, she managed to distract him and retrieve the stolen glasses. As Mia returned to Fredrick with the glasses, they both realized the power of unity and friendship.

Fredrick put on his glasses, and his vision became clear once again. Grateful for Mia's bravery and loyalty, he thanked her from the bottom of his heart. From that day forward, Mia and Fredrick became inseparable friends, always looking out for each other. They taught the forest animals the importance of friendship and how unity can overcome any obstacle.
