

ELLIE AND ADDIE MEET A HORSE

by childbook.ai

Once upon a time, in a land not too far,
Lived two little girls named Ellie and Addie, oh
how they are!
One sunny day, they decided to go,
To visit a farm, where animals roam to and fro.

As they arrived, they saw cows in a line,
Mooing and chewing grass, oh so fine!
Ellie and Addie giggled with delight,
As they watched the cows, black and white.

Next, they strolled to a pond so blue,
Where ducks were swimming, quacking too!
Ellie and Addie fed them bread,
And the ducks waddled, happy and well-fed.

Down the path, they heard a snort,
It was the pigs, playing in the dirt!
Ellie and Addie squealed with glee,
As they watched the pigs, so funny and free.

In the meadow, they found fluffy white sheep,
Their wool so soft, piled in a heap.
Ellie and Addie gently touched their fleece,
And the sheep baaed softly, bringing them
peace.

As they walked further, they heard a cluck,
It was the hens and a rooster, oh what luck!
Ellie and Addie gathered eggs with care,
And the hens clucked proudly, eggs to share.

Finally, they reached the horse's stable,
Where Swirl, the horse, stood so stable.
Ellie and Addie approached with awe,
As Swirl neighed gently, with a soft paw.

Ellie and Addie bid farewell to the farm,
With hearts full of joy and arms so warm.
They thanked the animals for the fun,
And promised to visit again, when the day is done.