Nayu, a strong and brave 6-year-old girl, was enjoying a sunny day by roller skating in the park. Her black hair flowed in the wind as she zoomed around with joy.

Suddenly, Nayu heard a loud scream. It was her younger sister, Lika, calling out for help. Nayu quickly skated towards the sound, worried about what had happened.

As Nayu reached Lika, she saw tears streaming down her sister's face. Lika pointed up to a tall tree and cried, 'Please, Nayu, please help! Our cat is stuck up there!'

With determination in her eyes, Nayu comforted Lika and said, 'Don't worry, I will save our cat. I won't let anything happen to it.'

Without wasting a moment, Nayu quickly skated to the tree. She looked up and saw the frightened cat perched on a high branch. Nayu took a deep breath and began to climb.

With every step, Nayu showed her bravery and strength. She carefully made her way up the tree, reaching closer to the scared cat. With a gentle touch, she cradled the cat in her arms.

As Nayu descended from the tree, Lika's tears turned into a big smile. She ran towards Nayu, hugging her tightly. 'Thank you, Nayu! You saved our cat!' Lika exclaimed with joy.

Nayu's heart swelled with happiness. She had proven once again that she was a good and caring child. With the cat safely back in their arms, the sisters walked home, cherishing the bond they shared.
