

MY CHILD'S 1ST- PRAYER BOOK

by Rozlyne Prince & AI

Zariah woke up with a smile, Looked out the window for a while. She said a prayer, so sweet and true, Thanked the Lord for skies so blue. She asked for strength and love to share, And for her friends, she said a prayer. Zariah's morning prayer was done, She felt so happy, full of fun.

At lunchtime, Zariah sat to eat, She thanked the Lord for food so sweet. For all the blessings, big and small, She thanked the Lord, she thanked them all. For family, friends, and sunny days, She thanked the Lord in many ways. Zariah's gratitude prayer was said, Her heart felt light, her tummy fed.

At bedtime, Zariah knelt to pray, She thanked the Lord for the wonderful day. For love and laughter, big and small, She thanked the Lord, she thanked them all. For peace and rest throughout the night, She prayed to God with all her might. Zariah's bedtime prayer was through, She closed her eyes, her heart felt true.

Playing with friends, having so much fun, Zariah prayed for everyone. For happiness and joy to share, She prayed with love and tender care. For kindness, patience, and laughter too,
She prayed for friends, old and new. Zariah's friendship prayer was kind, In her heart, love
she did find.

In the garden, with flowers bright, Zariah said a prayer with all her might. For the birds that sing and the trees so tall, She thanked the Lord for them all. For the sun that shines and the rain that falls, She prayed with love within the walls. Zariah's nature prayer was pure, In her heart, love did endure.

When someone needed a helping hand, Zariah prayed for them to understand. For kindness and love to fill their day, She prayed for them in every way. For smiles, hugs, and hearts so true, She prayed for kindness to shine through. Zariah's kindness prayer was bright, In her heart, love was the light.

In moments of joy and times of sorrow, Zariah prayed for a brighter tomorrow. For grateful hearts and thankful ways, She prayed for them throughout her days. For love that grows and dreams that soar, She prayed for blessings, more and more. Zariah's thankfulness prayer was true, In her heart, love she knew.

When the world felt big and scary too, Zariah prayed for peace so true. For calm and comfort, love and light, She prayed for peace with all her might. For hearts to heal and fears to cease, She prayed for the world to find its peace. Zariah's peace prayer was so grand, In her heart, love did stand.
