OF GROWING"

In a vibrant nursery, lived a small tree named Spiggs. Spiggs had branches for limbs and was youthful in appearance. All the other trees in the nursery had big dreams of what they wanted to become when they grew up. Some wanted to be strong beams for homes, while others dreamed of being beautiful tables. But Spiggs felt lost and unsure about his future.

Feeling sad and confused, Spiggs decided to wander into the nearby forest. He hoped to find answers to his big question. Along the way, he met a wise old oak tree. The oak tree shared his dream of becoming a sturdy door that would welcome people into their homes. Spiggs listened carefully and felt a little better.

As Spiggs journeyed deeper into the forest, he met more wise trees. One tree wanted to be a strong beam, holding up a roof to protect a family. Another dreamed of becoming a beautiful table where people would gather and share meals. Each tree had a special purpose, and they all shared lessons of kindness, strength, and character with Spiggs. He realized that every tree had its own unique path.

Inspired by the trees he met, Spiggs understood that it was okay not to know his purpose yet. He decided that he would keep growing and learning. Spiggs knew that when the time was right, he would find his own special purpose. For now, he was happy just being himself and enjoying the journey. Spiggs returned to the nursery with a heart full of hope and excitement for the future.
