

WHERE DO HICCUPS GO?

by childbook.ai

Mia was playing with her toys when she suddenly heard a funny sound. "Hic!" went the noise, surprising her. She giggled and wondered where it came from. Mia ran to her mom and asked, "Where do hiccups go, Mom?" Her mom smiled and said, "That's a great question, Mia. Let's find out together!"

Mia imagined her hiccup hopping on a bus with tiny hiccup friends. They laughed and bounced as the bus drove through the town. "Maybe they swim with dolphins in the ocean," Mia thought excitedly. She pictured them splashing and playing in the waves. Her mom chuckled, "Hiccups sure have fun adventures!"

Mia then imagined the hiccups bouncing around in fluffy clouds. They leaped from cloud to cloud, giggling all the way. "Do you think they play tag with the birds?" Mia asked her mom. Her mom nodded, "They might even slide on rainbows!" Mia's eyes sparkled with wonder.

As the day went on, Mia's hiccups slowly disappeared. She smiled, knowing they were off on more adventures. Her mom said, "Every hiccup has its own story, thanks to your imagination." Mia hugged her mom and whispered, "I love where my hiccups go." And from that day on, every hiccup was a new adventure waiting to happen.
