

CHRISTIANITY

BY GRANNY & AI

John Jr woke up to the smell of pancakes. "Good morning, Granny!" he said with a big smile. "Good morning, my sweet boy," Granny replied. They sat at the table, and Granny said, "Today is Sunday, so we're going to church." John Jr clapped his hands, excited for their special day. Together, they finished breakfast and got ready.

Granny dressed John Jr in his best little shirt. She brushed his short brown hair gently. "You look wonderful," Granny said happily. John Jr giggled and tried to help Granny fix her long brown hair. "Are we going to see Jesus at church?" he asked. Granny smiled and nodded, "We'll learn about him today."

Hand in hand, they walked down the sunny street. Birds sang as Granny pointed out the pretty flowers. "Jesus loves all of creation," she told John Jr. John Jr tried to skip like the birds hopped. Granny laughed and said, "God made you special too." The church steeple peeked above the trees ahead.

Inside the church, everyone greeted Granny and John Jr warmly. The pastor smiled and waved, "Welcome!" Granny whispered, "We sit and listen quietly now." John Jr peeked at the colorful window showing Jesus and the sheep. "Who is that, Granny?" he whispered. "That's Jesus, who loves everyone," Granny replied softly.

The pastor began telling a story about Jesus helping people. John Jr listened closely, eyes wide with wonder. "Jesus was very kind," Granny said. The story talked about sharing and loving each other. John Jr squeezed Granny's hand. "I want to be kind like Jesus," he whispered.

Everyone stood and began to sing a happy song. "Jesus loves me, this I know," the people sang. Granny sang softly, rocking John Jr in her lap. John Jr clapped and tried to sing along. The church filled with joyful music. "Singing makes my heart happy," John Jr said.

The pastor said, "Let's pray together." Granny folded her hands, and John Jr tried to do the same. "Dear God, thank you for our family," Granny prayed. John Jr peeked and whispered, "Thank you for pancakes." Granny smiled at his sweet prayer. Everyone ended with a gentle, "Amen."

After church, Granny showed John Jr a big book. "This is the Bible," she said quietly. John Jr touched the cover with curiosity. "It has stories about Jesus and God's love," Granny explained. "Can you read me a story?" asked John Jr. "Of course," Granny answered and opened the book.

Granny read about Jesus sharing food with many people. "He fed five thousand!" she exclaimed. John Jr's eyes grew wide. "That's a lot!" he gasped. Granny said, "Sharing makes people happy." John Jr nodded, hugging his teddy closer.

Back home, Granny gave John Jr some crayons. They drew a church, some bread, and happy faces. "This is our church family," Granny said. John Jr colored Jesus with a big smile. "Jesus is kind," he said, grinning. Granny hung their picture on the fridge.

Granny explained, "Easter remembers when Jesus came back to life." John Jr loved the colorful eggs on the table. Granny hid one behind a pillow. "Found it!" John Jr shouted with joy. Granny hugged him, "Easter is a happy time." They shared some chocolate and laughed together.

"At Christmas, we celebrate Jesus being born," Granny said. John Jr helped hang ornaments on the tree. He listened to Granny read about baby Jesus. They sang carols by the sparkling lights. "Merry Christmas, Granny!" John Jr cheered. Granny hugged him warmly, "Merry Christmas, my dear."

Granny reminded John Jr, "We try to be kind like Jesus every day." John Jr helped pick up his toys. He shared his cookies with Granny. "You are being just like Jesus," Granny praised. John Jr beamed with pride. Together, they finished cleaning up and hugged.

At bedtime, Granny tucked John Jr in. They said a little prayer together. "Thank you, God, for love and kindness," Granny whispered. John Jr whispered, "Thank you for Granny." Granny kissed his forehead gently. The room felt warm and safe as they said, "Amen."
